ABSTRACT

[0030] An optical unidirectional ring network having a plurality of network nodes (NA, NB, ...), in which each network node is assigned a transmission channel (ΛA) with a transmission band occurring only once. The network is configured using receiving filters (54) which can be switched over or tuned.